Donald L.
Scantlebury

Memorial Award for Distinguished Leadership
in Financial Management
Improvement

The Joint Financial Management Improvement Program of the federal government is a cooperative undertaking of the Department of the Treasury, the Government Accountability Office, the Office of Management and Budget, and the Office of Personnel Management. We work in cooperation with each other and with operating agencies to improve and coordinate financial management policies and practices throughout the government. The JFMIP was authorized by the Budget and Accounting Act of 1950.

Since 1971, the JFMIP has sponsored an annual award program directed to excellence in financial management. The award was established to recognize senior financial management executives who, through outstanding and continuous leadership in financial management, have been principally responsible for significant economies, efficiencies and improvements in federal, state or local government. In 1981, the award was designated as the Donald L. Scantlebury Memorial Award in honor of the Chief Accountant of the General Accounting Office and the chairman of the JFMIP Steering Committee.

Type of Award

Awards, consisting of engraved plaques, will be presented at the March 10, 2005 JFMIP Annual Financial Management Conference in Washington, DC.

Eligibility

All federal, state, or local government employees who are senior executives and have demonstrated outstanding distinguished leadership resulting in effective financial management improvements over the years are eligible to be nominated. Nominees from small entities with fewer than 2,000 full-time employees will receive every consideration provided they meet the selection criteria. Previous nominees may be renominated provided they meet the other provisions of this announcement. The nomination should be updated to include the latest achievements of the nominee.

Selection Criteria

The Awards Committee will base its determinations on two factors: sustained leadership in financial management and specific accomplishments in financial management. For purposes of this award, the term financial management has been interpreted to include, but is not limited to, the following areas: accounting, auditing, information technology, budgeting, asset management, control and allocation of resources, cost reduction, financial analysis, financial systems development, management analysis, planning, productivity measurement and improvements, and financial and performance reporting. In addition, sustained leadership in financial management includes a focus on addressing management responsibilities that lead to better financial performance. The Awards Committee will give substantial weight to sustained, high-quality leadership in financial management over the years considering:

1. Long-term or lasting benefit of the nominee's accomplishments and/or exemplary leadership on the efficiency, effectiveness, and economy of government operations.
2. Measurable improvements in financial management technology or methodology resulting from the nominee's accomplishments.
3. Innovation of nominee's accomplishments.
4. The impact of the nominee's accomplishments on government financial management policies, and practices.
5. The impact of the nominee's accomplishments on the agency's financial management as a result of improving human capital management.
6. The extent to which the improvements would have been impossible or significantly lessened without the nominee's involvement.

The Awards Committee will also consider a series of specific accomplishments for which the nominee is primarily responsible and where the results can be measured specifically in terms of improvement in service, substantial savings, or significant technological progress adaptable to a wide range of government financial management operations.

Nomination Procedure

Federal agencies are encouraged to use incentive awards program channels for solicitation and selection of nominees. No more than three nominations should be submitted from the head of each federal department and independent agency or high official from state and local governments to:
